Now Believed That Poisoning May Have Been Intentional

VICTIMS DIE QUICKLY

Attacks Result Fatally in Many Cases a Half Hour After First Symptoms Develop

Berlin, Dec. 28.—More than fifty deaths from ptomaine poisoning have occurred since the night of December 26 at the Municipal shelter for the homeless here. Another 15 of the destitute male inmates died last night and this forenoon while 60 or 70 others are seriously ill at the various hospitals.

New cases are being rushed to the hospital so rapidly that statistics cannot keep up with them. The affair has assumed such proportions that doubt is expressed whether death was due to was first believed to eating decayed smoked herring.

Hope that the latest cases would prove less serious than the first has vanished. Many victims today as well as yesterday died in 30 or 35 minutes after they were attacked. The ambulances would start from the shelter to the hospital and many times had to change their course and go to the morgue instead.

The symptoms of the poisoning is fainting followed by violent vomiting and death. The superintendent of the asylum expresses the opinion that the deaths were not from the fish but from intentional poisoning.

Washington, Dec. 28.—President Taft has decided to extend his trip in Ohio next month further than was arranged in the original program. As now planned Mr. Taft will be in Ohio from January 29 to 31. He will visit Cleveland, Columbus and Akron and deliver more than half a dozen speeches. Some significance is attached to the president's plan to speak in Ohio by the fact that he has changed the date of the annual dinner to the supreme court justices in order to keep the Ohio engagement.

YEGGS HOLD UP UNIFORMED COP

District Patrolman Robbed of City Funds Amounting to $1376 in Broad Daylight.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28.—A policeman, Tim Moynihan, was held up and robbed of $1,376 here yesterday. He was on duty too. Such an unusual crime was made possible by the fancied security afforded by his uniform and the work to which he was assigned.

He is a member of the City Hall guard and his duties are to protect city employees carrying money to and from banks and to other places. Sometimes he would carry funds himself. Yesterday was one of these times. He was sent to an outlying district with the pay envelopes of the workers at the city garbage plant. The thugs evidently knew his errand, for their campaign was put through in a flash. He left a street car at a lonely corner and in a moment knocked unconscious by a blow in the face from a club wielded by one of two men who suddenly rushed upon him. He was found unconscious, the pay envelopes gone.

FUTURE OF CHINA UP TO PEOPLE

Throne Agrees to Refer Question to National Conference

CHINA IS HELPLESS

Russia's Request of Foreign Office to Resume Control of Mongolia Is Refused.

Peking, Dec. 28.—M. Shokine, Russian charge d'affaires, went to the Chinese foreign office today and handed in the request on behalf of the Russian government that China should promptly re-assume control of Mongolia. He received the response that China was at the moment unable to comply.

Peking, Dec. 28.—The action of the Russian government taken in consequence of the proclamation of the independence by Mongolia and Turkistan would be cut off from China at the same time, the inability of China to assert her authority in Mongolia at the present time leaves the way open for the extension of Russian influence in that district and also possibility of ultimate annexation. It is said here that the Russians will proceed to carry out their plans for the building of a Trans-Mongolian railroad.

London, Dec. 28.—A telegram from Tien Tsin to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the imperial family has decided to leave Peking. The decision was announced at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Peking, China, Dec. 28.—The throne has agreed to Premier Yuan Shi Kai's suggestion to refer the question of the future government of China to a national conference and to abide by its decision whatever it may be.

The Dowager Empress, Premier Yuan Shi Kai and the Manchurian princess of the imperial clan, debated throughout the entire morning the scheme for calling together of a convention of delegates from all the parts of the empire to decide on a form of government.

Prince Ching, former premier and minister of foreign affairs, urged the acceptance of the proposal. Prince Yu Lang, member of the grand council and Prince Tsai Tao, former minister of war, opposed the scheme.

The cabinet has been instructed to draw up the regulations which shall govern the national convention and to inform the delegates to the peace conference at Shanghai that the throne is willing to abide by the decision of a representative convention of the activity of the Shanghai revolutionaries imperial government officials consider it doubtful whether the rebels will agree to the long delay inseparable from the calling of a national convention.

The action of the throne leaves no room for doubt that the advisers of the regent and the emperor are prepared for abdication should that course prove to be the only way of settlement.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Although not officially informed of the purpose of the local authorities in Mongolia and Turkistan to declare the independence of those provinces of China today, the officials of the state department were not surprised at the press reports to that effect. Attention was directed to the fact that with the exception of Chi Li practically all of the Chinese provinces

Fights Tuberculosis as Matter of Business Fraternal Society Expending Million Dollars

NEW CENTRAL BUILDING AT MODERN WOODMEN SANATORIUM AT COLORADO SPRINGS

Improvements costing $200,000 will be made during 1932 at the free tuberculosis sanatorium maintained near Colorado Springs, Colo., by the Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal insurance society. Permanent structures erected will include a central building and receiving hospital, the former 220x120 feet and the latter 65x100 feet. Both will be of heavy fire-proof construction. A power and heating plant will supply electricity and steam to all parts of the grounds. The present number of tent-cottages will be doubled, giving facilities to care for approximately 400 patients. When completed the sanatorium will have cost more than a million dollars.

This institution is the only one of its kind that makes no charge for treatment of tuberculosis, insurance saved warranting the expenditure involved. Inauguration of the improvements mentioned marks the passing of the experimental stage. Though it has been in operation but a short time the sanatorium already has justified its existence in the mere matter of dollars and cents by prolonging the lives of members of the society, thus proving that it is a practical philanthropy. Of greater importance, however, than the actual curing of disease is the educational feature, patients going out from the institution proving most effective influences to carry others and to teach the doctrine of right living.

RECEIVING HOSPITAL

HORRIBLE DEED OF FATHER OF SIX CHILDREN

Murders Wife and Six Children and Takes His Own Life By Hanging.

Benton, Ark., Dec. 28.—Because he was in "deep despair" and believed he and his family "would be better off in heaven" James Grant clubbed his wife, five children and a stepson to death and hanged himself here Tuesday night.

The bodies of the children were found in their beds yesterday, each skull being crushed. The body of Mrs. Grant was found in the home half dressed, and evidently she was killed as she was about to retire.

A heavy club covered with blood was found in the house, and it was apparent that Grant killed the seven members of his family. The children ranged in age from 5 to 13 years. Hugh Grant, a sixteen year old son, only member of the family alive, discovered the bodies when he returned from a holiday celebration at a neighboring farm.

He found a note signed by his father, which explained that, "owing to deep despair, and that I see nothing for me or my children, who I believe would be better off in heaven, I commit this deed."

Instructions were given where money might be found to cover burial expenses, and a request that Grant's parents be not notified until after the bodies had been buried.

Grant lived near this town on a farm, and was reputed to be well-to-do. He also conducted a mercantile business.

LA FOLLETTE SPEAKS AT NORWALK, O.

Norwalk, Dec. 28.—Senator R. M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, carried the second day of his campaign for progressive Republicanism farther into the state of Ohio, making his first speech of the day here. As in his previous speech, he explained at length the tenets of the progressives going deeply into the hopes for the initiative, referendum and recall, asserting that he would apply the latter to the corporals.

Because of several bank failures here several years ago, Senator La Follette had been asked to take on the subject of bank regulation. He said that banks subject to state regulation are safe and failure unknown. The tariff, too, was taken up by the speaker who said: "When conditions surrounding labor in this and competing countries is imperfect I have always stood for tariff that would measure differently where there is a difference between the cost of production in this and competing countries."

Senator La Follette said the difference between the tariff stand-patters and the progressives was so that the former believed in keeping the tariff wall as high as possible, notwithstanding the growth of monopoly, while the latter recognized the need of radical changes in the tariff revenue due to the vast revolution in economic conditions.

From Norwalk Senator La Follette goes to Toledo, where he will speak tonight.

SPECTACULAR RESCUE OF CREW BY LIFE SAVERS

Block Island, R. I., Dec. 28.—The four-maned schooner Mary Adelaide Randall, of Port Jefferson, N. Y., coal laden, was hurled upon the ledge west of Block Island by a terrific northwesterly gale early today and four hours and a half later her crew of ten men was rescued by the Block Island life saving crew. The rescue was spectacular and was accomplished only after the life savers had labored repeatedly to reach the stranded craft. The Randall was bound from Norfolk, Va., for New London, Conn.

ROAD SUES COMMISSION

W. & L. E. Enjoins Commission From Forcing Passenger Service.

Columbus, O., Dec. 28.—Alleging that the Ohio Public Service Commission exercised authority prohibited under the constitution a suit was filed here yesterday by the Adena Railroad Company, the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad and B. A. Worthington, receiver of the latter, asking an injunction against the commission restraining it from putting in force an order that passenger and freight service be established along the route of the Adena Company.

The Lake Erie Company, which owns the capital stock of the Adena Company claims that the latter is not self-supporting and has no funds with which to establish such service. Basing its contention on this claim it charges that the order of the commission practically amounts to confiscation of the property without compensation, which action is unconstitutional.

ENGINEER KILLED.

Huntington, W. Va., Dec. 28.—Engineer William Dunn, of Brinto, W. Va., was killed, Fireman Lacey Terrell was fatally injured and a number of passengers were hurt when the engine of Train No. 5 on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad left the track at McDondree, W. Va., today. The engine rolled down an embankment and a number of cars left the rails. The train is one of the best on the system.

Waverly, Dec. 28.—By a majority unofficially placed at 525, Pike county yesterday, in its second election under the Rose law, voted to remain in the dry column. The unfavorable weather cut down the vote, especially in the rural districts. Waverly, the county seat, gave a wet majority of 100, but every precinct save four in the entire county went dry.

Early in the day the wets conceded their defeat but would give the dries no more than 200 majority. Polling places set over the county were closely watched by representatives of the dry forces to prevent fraud, and one man was arrested for illegal voting. There were no disturbances. Jubilant dries last night celebrated their victory by ringing the church bells. Dry women spent the day in prayer, and urging voters to cast dry ballots.

Three years ago this county went dry by a majority of 912 and voted out eight saloons.

WASHINGTON COUNTY

Marionetta, O., Dec. 28.—Washington county, the home of the author of the Rose law, will hold its second county option election on Saturday, January 13. The number of signatures to the wet petitions equals about two-thirds of the total vote of the county in 1910.

SECRETS OF PACKERS REVEALED

Lawyer, Who Conceived Plan of Billion Dollar Trust, Testifies

ATTEMPT WAS A FAILURE

Harriman and Others Were to Furnish Capital to Finance Gigantic Merger

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Lord Tannure Gordon, an English promoter, first suggested the merger of the packing corporation in the United States at a capitalization of $928,000,000 according to Albert H. Veeder.

The English financier visited the United States early in 1902 and after directing the merger of several American industries laid before Augustus Swift the plans for the gigantic packing consolidation. Mr. Swift rejected the proposition, but several months later held a conference of the packers at which were laid the preliminary plans for the forthcoming merger. The preliminary meeting was attended by Augustus Swift, J. Ogden Armour and Edward Morris and others.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Albert H. Veeder, attorney for Swift Co., and the first witness called by the government in the trial of the 10 Chicago packers, testified yesterday that the defendants made two efforts to organize a merger in the summer of 1902 and that their efforts to finance the enterprise were unsuccessful in both instances.

The first plan was to include the Armour Swift, Morris and Cudahy interests, with a capital of $928,000,000, divided as follows: Bonds, $141,750,000; preferred stock, $168,750,000; common stock $612,500,000.

After the promoters had failed to finance this proposition, through Kuhn Loeb & Co. of New York, the plan was changed to provide for a capitalization of $525,000,000 but the condition of the money market made it impossible to finance the modified merger.

Mr. Veeder testified that E. H. Harriman, James Stillman and other New York financiers were to have furnished the capital and the amount they were to receive as compensation was $10,000,000.

Documents in Evidence.
The story of the two proposed mergers was told chiefly by the reading of contracts and agreements entered into by interested parties. The government offered the documents in evidence.

The late Gustavus F. Swift was to have been the president of the merger. Edward Morris and Michael Cudahy were to have been vice presidents and J. Ogden Armour, chairman of the executive and finance committees. The witness told of the organization of the National Packing Company, March 18, 1903, but denied in had any connection with the proposed merger.

The appraised value of the tangible assets and the annual earnings of the proposed big company on Aug. 2, 1902, was given in a statement as follows:

	Tangible Assets	Annual Earnings.
Swift & Co.	$85,000,000	$8,300,000
Armour & Co.	73,000,000	7,900,000
Morris & Co.	24,000,000	3,000,000
Cudahy & Co.	15,500,000	1,175,000

"After the merger plan had fallen through, Michael Cudahy dropped out of the partnership with Armour, Swift and Morris and at his request was released from all obligations imposed by the contract," said Mr. Veeder.

CAN THE OPEN SALOON BE REGULATED? NEWARK WINS BASKETBALL GAME FROM ZANESVILLE

(Advertisement.)

The organization which is conducting the "wet" fight in Newark says it can, and it has given its solemn promise that it will be regulated if it is permitted to come back.

The organization that conducted the "wet" fight in Muskegon county made the same pledge, but they find that they cannot "deliver the goods." At a meeting of the Law and Order League in Zanesville, H. H. Sturtevant, one of the foremost "wet" leaders in the recent campaign said: "It is simply a question whether the saloon men are going to run the Tax Law and Order League or the league is going to run the saloon men. I can't see where we have a right to repudiate our promises to the people."

The saloon men have given the answer. Already they have persuaded the city council to repeal an ordinance which required the saloon to close at 10 p. m. and to pass an ordinance permitting them to remain open until midnight. They have shown in a week that they intend to run their places of business to suit themselves and that means that the same awful results of debauchery and crime will follow. This is what the Zanesville Signal of December 26 says:

ZANESVILLE HAS HILLARIOUS TIME WITH THE DRINKS.

All Records Smashed to Pieces in Police Court.

Worst for Years Says Chief Foley. Largest Doctored Since Judge Foley Has Been on the Bench.

The Christmas spirit of good fellowship seemed to fill the very air here Sunday and Monday, and other spirits, notably spiritus fermenti, being in strong evidence. The flowing bowl flowed freer than ever before. As a result there were 55 people arraigned in police court Tuesday morning, being 39 for drunkenness, 6 for disorderly conduct, 2 for loitering, 4 beggars, 3 assaults, and 1 highway robber, all growing out of lumbing too freely from the cup that brings cheer for short time but results in big heads the morning after.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN.

Court opened at 8 o'clock as the docket was the largest since Judge Foley has been sitting on the bench a period of 9 years. It was just a succession of three and three and five.

and the costs, according to the variety of the drink, whether he was plain or advanced a little farther so he could be charged with intoxication. The city is considerably richer this evening from fines and costs collected, while Superintendent Graves of the work house has received several prisoners to work out their fines and at the same time meditate upon the Christmas celebrating in which they indulged so freely.

Eight years ago there were 48 people arraigned in police court. Then, at this year, Christmas came on Monday. But all records were smashed easily Tuesday. Then there are also at least a dozen affidavits in the hands of Chief Arter that have not been served.

Not all the drunks arrested Sunday were compelled to spend their Christmas in the usually lonely cells at police station. Some of them were sobered enough by Monday morning to put up bond for their appearance that would cover the usual fine handed out for those offenses.

CHRISTMAS DEBAUCH.

It was just one continual round of pleasure for the celebrators Sunday and Monday and the police patrol was kept busy answering calls. Some of the men had not even become sobered when arraigned and several had been so heavily intoxicated they did not even remember of having fights with each other. The police had to contend with several drunken rows, only being able to catch a small number of the participants.

Others seemed to have a mania for breaking glass, and in at least five cases the men were guilty of this offense. One thought a piano in a house on South Second street was giving him trouble and rained his hand through the glass. He severed an artery and nearly bled to death before the two foremen could be checked. Two foreigners smashed a glass door in Putnam, one man fell through the Arlington hotel window, and another through a pool room window on Main street.

Even Tuesday there were a number of the drunks wandering helplessly around on the streets and begging for a nickel or dime to buy bread or in reality to get another drink. Chief Arter said "The two days were the most strenuous since I have been at save Mongolia and Turkestan have already declared their independence of the Peking government. This was done confessedly for the purpose of getting rid of the monarchical machinery which has existed in the provinces for the past three hundred years and of clearing the way for the realization of the ideal republic of the Chinese reformers.

FUTURE OF CHINA

As to the possible extension of Russian influence over the provinces of Mongolia and Turkestan and their probable ultimate absorption by Russia nothing is known here, but every step taken has warranted the confidence of the state department in the pledges given by the five powers interested that they would act as a unit in China and seek to take no individual advantages of any declaration, such as the declaration of independence of a province at this stage.

Shanghai, Dec. 28.—Word came to the revolutionary leaders last night that representatives of the Imperial court have signified to Premier Yuan Shi-Kai their willingness to agree to an abdication. The court realizes that there is no more hope for it in the detention of three or four detached provinces of the country, and has decided to accept the offer of a semi-royal provinces and hopes to obtain better terms by agreeing to the proposed referendum on the question of form of government.

The Empress Dowager, Ye Ho-Na-La has summoned the leading princes of the imperial clan to meet Premier Yuan Shi-Kai to discuss the proposal made at the Shanghai conference.

It is considered not improbable that Yuan Shi-Kai will endeavor to shortly withdraw from active politics.

At any rate the power of the Manchus has vanished. The attitude of the Imperialist delegates to the Shanghai peace conference, coupled with the discontent of certain Manchurian factions which profess to doubt the loyalty of Yuan Shi-Kai, are the motives given for the possible retirement of the premier.

It was decided that Mongolia, which almost equals China in size, shall be proclaimed independent on Friday, simultaneously with the setting off from China of the vast dependency of Turkestan.

Both will pass under Russian influence and will practically become Russian protectorates. Russia at any time will be able to annex them.

A grand Kahn will be named as monarch of Mongolia.

The construction of a Trans-Mongolia Railway which Russia has long sought permission from China, will now be a matter of time. Europe thereby coming nearer Peking by three or four days.

Russian influence will flank the Japanese sphere in Manchuria perilously and a Japanese alliance for the sake of preserving Japanese interests may sooner or later be expected. Russian officers and officials, if not the Russian government proper, have influenced this action in Mongolia.

The arrival of Dr. Sun Yat Sen has injected an entirely new and forcible elements into the ranks and councils of the revolutionists. There is every evidence that Dr. Sun is receiving more consideration than other leaders of the revolutionaries here. His residence is crowded from morning until evening with representatives of all the provinces, generals and governors, with whom he has continual consultation.

The delegates from the provinces of China proper, who have been attending the Nanking convention, came in a body to Shanghai, where they met Dr. Sun, later returning to Nanking. There is reason to believe that they will meet and elect Dr. Sun president of the provincial government of the United Provinces of China proper by a unanimous vote.

After that has been done the revolutionaries plan the selection of a

CHANGES IN FLOWERS

MODERN TASTE AS COMPARED WITH OTHER YEARS.

Gardens of Today Would Be Things of Wonder to Our Ancestors—All Countries Called on for Beauty of Color.

It is a truly astonishing thing to reflect that Shakespeare, for all his love of flowers, would have been able to name scarcely a single bloom in a twentieth century garden, says the Strand. He would hardly have been able to distinguish the queen of flowers itself, so greatly has the rose changed in the last three centuries.

As for the begonias, the chrysanthemums, the dahlias, the geraniums, the fuschias and carnations; these were unknown even to our great-grandfathers. Many of our most beautiful flowers are purely modern productions.

Three centuries ago there were no flower gardens in England. What were then thought of as gardens were herbaria, places where rosemary, mint, rue, thyme and sage grew, and perhaps a few primitive blooms, such as violets and primroses, were suffered to exist, much as poppies and cornflowers do today.

Many well known plants have been developed from specimens discovered in various parts of the world, and there is no doubt that a number of charming novelties are still lurking undiscovered in remote spots. The chances of valuable finds are, however, becoming unfortunately less every year. A small army of collectors is always at work in every corner of the world searching for new treasures to enrich our floral store.

From South America came many years ago the recently unfashionable luscious; from the hills of northern India and Tibet have been brought many useful varieties; from China we have had among other things many new primulas; Japan has yielded wonderful irises; Africa many varied plants, usually of most brilliant and gorgeous coloring; while numerous charming members of the narcissus family have been discovered in the Pyrenees.

But this cannot continue indefinitely, and even in the realm of orchids, for which perhaps the most systematic search of all is made, there is not much left to be explored. For our future novelties we shall have to rely then chiefly on the skill of our hybridists, who are constantly engaged in mating different species of the same family of plants, and our cross fertilizers, who are doing similar work with different varieties of the same species.

The flowers of today are the result of cross-breeding, stimulated by electricity, drugs and hot water baths.

Worse and Worse.

"Did you ever notice," said Walter Grimes, "how a fellow, when he once gets 'balled up' and says the wrong thing, has a tendency to get in deeper and deeper?"

"A friend was first telling me of his experience in attending a reception in Indianapolis some time ago. During the progress of the function an elaborately gowned woman sang for the guests. Her voice wasn't anything to brag on, and my friend, who is very plainly spoken, turned to a meek-looking little man at his right and asked in a low voice: 'Who was that old hen who has just squawked for us?'"

"That," replied the man addressed, "is my wife."

"My friend gasped. 'Oh, b-b-beg your pardon,' he stuttered. 'She's really a rather nice-looking woman, and I know she'd sing better if she made a better selection of his music. Who do you suppose ever wrote a rotten song like that?'"

"I am the author of that song," replied the meek-looking little man.—Louisville Times.

Jumping Jack Tars.

The rhythmic jumping of 350 blue-jackets saved H. M. S. Commonwealth from the fate of the Montagu when she ran aground in a dangerous place. The battleship Montagu was abandoned as a hopeless wreck off the Cornish coast, but her sister ship, the Commonwealth, was sent off by the muscular exertion of her crew.

The Commonwealth ran on to an uncharted rock when returning from target practice, and was badly damaged. She was so nicely balanced in her lodgment, however, that it was decided, after reversing the engines had failed to extricate her, to try the experiment of mustering all the available hands on the extreme aft, and setting them to jump in unison. The regular jumping of twenty-five tons of solidly-built seamen had the effect of making the huge vessel rock seaward until she gradually floated off with the rising tide. In fifteen minutes she was afloat, and saved.

A Nice Point.

"Every student of history knows that our Christmas customs are a development of the Roman Saturnalia." "O, surely not all!" "I think so." "No, no! There's no reason to suppose, for instance, that the Romans were all the time being bunched to do their Saturnalian shopping early."—Puck.

After the Wedding

"Well, what did you think of the wedding?" cried Miss Connelly as she hunched into the car. "Beg pardon, Stell, for steppin' on you," she continued, stumbling over Miss Larson's feet and lunging into a seat next to that young person.

Miss Larson opened one sleepy eye. "Oh, did you step on me?" she droned, yawning widely and undisguisedly. "I didn't know it."

"Sure I did," responded Miss Connelly. "I thought I'd better wake you up and tell you about it. You can go to sleep again now."

Miss Larson opened the other eye. "I wasn't asleep, Nell Connelly," she said, indignantly. "I guess a person's got a right to shut their eyes if they want to. My eyes ain't very strong and the light hurts 'em."

"Don't let's waste our perfectly good time fightin' with each other this morning," said Miss Connelly. "If we do we won't have time to knock the wedding."

"Say," began Miss Frizkie eagerly, "didn't you pretty near die over the way Mame's hair was fixed? Honest to goodness, when I get married I'll have a hair dresser fix my hair up swell if I don't have so much as a pork chop to eat for a year."

"I thought her hair looked pretty good for Mame," said Miss Larson, sleepily. "It always looks like she'd slept in it."

"Her dress was a peach, though, wasn't it?" said Miss Frizkie. "At least it would have been if it had had any fit to it. All that hand embroidery and that bead trimming must have cost a pile."

"Hand embroidery!" ejaculated Miss Connelly. "That's all you know about it, Jen. I was over to look at Mame's clothes Tuesday evening and I felt it of good, and it wasn't no more hand embroidery than nothing."

"Well, she must 'a' got a corner on this year's crop of beads," said Miss Frizkie. "What do you think I said to the lady that was standin' next to me when Mame came into the parlor? I give her a dig with my elbow and I says, 'Say, I says, 'Mame must have got mixed in her dates and thought she was a Christmas tree.'"

"My! The lady got as red as anything. 'I designed that gown,' she says, sniffing up her nose at me, mad as she could be."

"Land! I just faded away like I'd been blown off the landscape."

"It's a pity you couldn't learn not to have such rude manners, Jen," said Miss Connelly.

"I guess if I could just learn to shut up and keep shut up it would help some," agreed Miss Frizkie, good naturedly.

"Mame didn't have such an awful lot of presents as I thought she would," Miss Larson opened her eyes long enough to remark. "I kind of thought she'd have a lot more'n what she did."

"Some of 'em was expensive, though, I guess," said Miss Frizkie. "Now, I bet that cut glass pitcher and the glasses cost $20."

"Nix on that," said Miss Connelly, decidedly. "I picked up every one of 'em and run my finger over 'em and they wasn't sharp like cut glass ought to be. They was real smooth."

"Well, that shows how you can fool me," Miss Frizkie admitted. "But then I'd a whole lot rather have a showy set like that than some little dinky piece that wouldn't make no show at all."

"Same here," said Miss Larson. "Anybody would, of course. I guess Mame's ma's folks are pretty well fixed anyway. Her ma's brother gave her that dandy set of knives and forks that was layin' upon the dresser with the plates with the hand-painted fruit design up 'em."

"Nothin' much to them," said Miss Connelly. "I guess they didn't cost more'n about $5. They was plated and it wasn't a first-class plate, either."

"Plated?" cried Frizkie. "How do you know they were plated?"

"Why, I took 'em out and looked at them," replied Miss Connelly, placidly. "You can't fool me. All the silver things there was plated except that little pickle fork that the two Ryan girls give her, and I seen them on sale last week over to Greenburg's for one and a quarter."

"My! I'd hate to give such an awful little thing anyway," murmured Miss Larson. "I think it was a lot better to club together like us girls did and give her something big. Our silver tray looked like it could have bought up everything else she had."

"Includin' the feller she married," said Miss Connelly. "Say, wasn't he the farmer, though? I bet he rented them clothes. He was afraid to sit down in 'em, and the way they fit was a fright. Did you pipe how he kept hitchin' one shoulder all the time the preacher was talkin'?"

"No," said Miss Frizkie. "I didn't. I was too busy tryin' to count the beads of Mame's dress."

Miss Larson stuck her hands deep into her muff and yawned once more. "Well, I'm glad I went," she said, "but don't know as it was worth the money we put into that tray, even if it did look so grand. The ice cream I got wasn't no bigger'n a silver dollar and I didn't get but two macaroons and a teeny piece of the weddin' cake."

STEEL MILLS

RESUME WORK

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28.—The Iron Trade Review today says: Owing to heavy orders passed for entry on mill books this month, practically all of the steel mills in the central west resumed operations the morning after the Christmas holiday, but in some longer vacations. In several branches of the steel trade production in December reached the high point of the year, and with liberal specifications received during the past 10 days, prospects are bright for a further extension in mill activities in January.

This is particularly true of the sheet and tin plate industry, as arrangements are now being made to operate practically all serviceable mills of the leading interests and independents. Fresh buying, especially on the part of the railroads, has fallen off slightly owing to the holiday season, but the larger companies report that in daily bookings during the week have been in excess of mill capacity.

Aside from the high prices quoted on billets and sheet bars, no further advance in prices of steel products has been made. A feature of the market is the rapid advance in the price of spot furnace coils, due largely to the curtailment in production owing to the holidays and the shortage of labor. A sale of 4,000 tons is reported at $1.80, ovens, as compared with $1.50, ovens, at the beginning of the month. The pig iron market is firmer and a fair amount of iron is under active negotiation.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG.

SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1663 pages), a revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address as above.

cent in production. Of the mines, the report says:

"Average number of days worked was 220, at an average daily wage of $2.56, as against 170 average working days in 1910 and an average wage of $2.53."

During the year the free employment offices found work for 47,903 persons, at a cost of $13,734.50, or 28.7
cents for every job. The department showed a slight increase in collections, which is matched against a slight increase in cost of operation.

This record was made in the face of dullness in many lines of industrial activity. The commissioner declares that the service rendered by the employment agencies is coming more and more to be appreciated by employers and the general public.

A Full State Treasury.

But a few months ago, Republicans cited a reduced treasury balance for the purpose of condemning the state Democratic administration. At the same time they pointed with pride to a big treasury surplus which Governor Harris bequeathed to his successor.

But no Democrat in Ohio need be ashamed of that treasury surplus now.
On the contrary, every member of the party has cause to be proud of the record of thriftiness made by representatives of the party in Columbus.

The Cincinnati Enquirer recently said: "The 1911 treasury balance of the state at Christmas time has broken all previous records, including the 'big balance' of 1908."

"State Treasurer Creamer compared the treasury balance of this year with those of previous years, found it to be more than $100,000 in excess of any on record."

"After all state employees had drawn the December pay there remained in the treasury $6,550,810.89, as against the next highest total of $6,454,007.26
on the same date three years ago."

General Reyes let all the good opportunities go by and started his little revolution when the country had had enough of that sort of thing for the present and desired peace and quiet more than anything else. Diaz would have welcomed his hearty support, but he had only a lukewarm loyalty from him and got him out of the country before Madero broke loose. Madero would have been very thankful for the support of Reyes, but the General was professing loyalty to the Government and not securing its confidence.
He was not quite for Diaz or for Madero, and he didn't quite dare to strike out for himself. When he finally got ready to start an insurrection Diaz had been eliminated.
Madero was firmly in the saddle, and both the country and its army had had all the fighting and violence they could stand. So there was nothing left for the old General but to surrender.

THE COMING VOWS.

Pretty soon, my friend, you'll stand with your hand across your heart, making solemn vows and grand, head-banging all your sins depart. When the new year's ushered in, when you always throw a fit, saying, "These your-

with a loud "Nixemore!" In a month

WANT WOOL PREPARED MORE CAREFULLY

Local wool growers and dealers
have been notified by the Boston Wool Trade Association through its secretary, George W. Benedict, that at its meeting in November a resolution was passed looking to the improvement of the preparation of wool for the market. The resolution affects wool grown east of the Mississippi river and in the states of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri as this comes in more direct competition with foreign wool than that of other states. Fleeces from this territory to be merchantable must be prepared for market in a standard manner, rolled into a firm bundle, flesh side out, free from tags or parts of other fleeces, tied with a hard glazed twine, not heavier or larger than what is known as size 4 1-2-3 ply India, using not more than three single strings
each way of the fleece and all knots firmly tied. Wool put up in any other manner shall be considered unmer-chantable and shall be subject to a discount of at least one cent per pound.

STILL PARADING WAR SCARES

Several Statesmen Trot Out
Japanese Bogy Man.

HERSON'S TIME LIMIT IS UP.

Not to Have War Soon or His Reputation as a Prophet is Gone—Peletiah Webster to Have a Monument—The Colonels Always in Capitals—Four Senators to Retire.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Dec. 28.—(Special.)—
With congress in recess and the country enjoying a bit of holiday pleasure it seems cruel to call attention to the possibilities of war, yet several statesmen, members of the military and naval committees, are doing so. It is pointed out again by some of these men that Japan could land a force on the Pacific coast, but just why Japan wants to land such a force is not quite plain.

It may be that the approach of the time limit set by Congressman Robson of Alabama when Japan would be at war has had something to do with this renewed talk of possibilities. It might just as well be Germany as Japan, using the Atlantic coast, of course, for we all know that the military and naval appropriation bills are under consideration, and war scares for big supplies are a part of the game.

Give Peletiah a Chance.

Congressman Ayres, who represents the big Bronx district of New York, has introduced a bill appropriating $100,000 for a monument to Peletiah Webster. It is to be erected in Washington and designed to give P. Webster credit for discovering the germ of the constitution, which was used by Hamilton, Madison and others to work out our present organic law.

It might be appropriate to erect such a monument just now, when efforts are being made to radically change that document and to revise it by court decisions. If Congressman Ayres had not been extremely generous he would have provided that the monument be erected in the Bronx park. He might just as get something for his district.

First Blood For Sims.

Congressman Sims of Tennessee is in every way different and distinct from every other congressman, and he has recently announced that he has the distinction of shedding the first blood in Tennessee for the Confederacy. He told the story in the house at some length. He was nine years old and decided to take the Confederate side in the early stages of the conflict. He secured a Confederate flag and went out and hurled for Jeff Davis.

"About that time," said Sims, "the Union boys came up, tore the flag to tatters; tore every insignia of Confederacy off me, and I got the worst beating any Confederate ever got in battle and survived it. When I went home my mother told me not to go to war any more until I could get some one to fight on my side."

Caps or Lower Case.

In every printing office the word
"caps" is used to denote capital letters and "lower case" the smaller letters.
Recently a man who went over to New York came back and in one of the cases remarked, "I saw the colonel while in New York."

"Do you mean you saw the colonel or that you saw 'THE COLONEL'?" asked a man present.

"I said I saw the colonel," stiltily remarked the first speaker.

"But you did not say whether you saw the colonel in caps or lower case," replied the man with a knowledge of printing. "If you mean caps we will listen to you. If not we will pass along to something else." All of which shows that Colonel Roosevelt is still the center of attraction in politics.

Retiring Senators.

Senators Wetmore of Rhode Island,
Simon Guggenheim of Colorado, Payton of Kentucky and Bailey of Texas have announced that at the expiration of their present terms they will retire from public life. A primary in Kentucky persuaded Payton to this step.

Sign Language Unavailing.

There was an awkward moment at the hearing before the interstate commerce committee of the senate when Attorney Brandeis was giving his testimony. Senator Gore, who looks as if he could see, though he is blind, is a member of the committee and put a question to Mr. Brandeis, who, intent on understanding the purport of the query, merely nodded in a silence that grew painfully prolonged as Senator Gore listened for the reply. Senator Chambers finally said quietly to the Boston attorney, "You must answer,
you know."

Mr. Brandeis spoke at once, adding an apology for his absentmindedness.
Senator Gore, grasping the situation, promptly said it was all right, and the hearing proceeded.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Getting in Physical Trim After Christmas

SOME of us seem to think that the stomach has a special dispensation as Christmas that enables it to digest unusual quantities of rich foods and candies without any inconvenience. We certainly do take unwarranted liberties with our physical machinery during the holiday season. The excitement and high spirits sometimes carry the matter through without ill results. Again, we suffer for it.

But since we can do some few little things without much trouble or expense to offset the indiscretions of the Christmas season, it is the part of wisdom to do them, and thus insure no disastrous consequences of our over-eating and over-indulgence.

When the strain is over and the reaction comes, it is decidedly worth while to deliberately take a little rest. The housekeeper should take a half day in bed, if she can't take longer. She should positively insist upon quietness throughout the house, if she can't have a morning or afternoon when every one is out. And she should regularly go to bed, put all worrying thoughts out of her mind, and rest. Or, if some morning, she feels dead tired, she should just stay in bed. She will get up at noon feeling like a new woman. If this is not possible then she should plan for several hours during the day, when with the children enlisted in the cause of mother's getting a rest, she should insure herself quiet. It may take a little planning and some effort to do this. But it will pay the woman who before Christmas has over-worked.

The business girl who has been working at nights or under an unusual strain during the days preceding Christmas should deliberately take one night this week and go to bed immediately after the evening meal is over. Even if she has to forego some pleasure to do this, it will pay her. Her body needs it. Her nerves need it. She needs to build up her vitality, the same as she economizes and builds up her depleted bank-account. Then in addition to rest, a little attention should be given to the diet. It may be well to take a little simple laxative medicine; for it has been eating rich foods or many sweets, the system needs clearing out and toning up. The digestion has been overtaxed. And it needs rest and strengthening. But if one doesn't care to take drugs, if the need doesn't seem very apparent, very beneficial results can be obtained by lightening the diet. Fresh salads should be eaten and plenty of fruit, and laxative foods such as peas, onions, spinach and such things. This procedure will tone up the digestive organs, and get the system generally in good working order.

Then one should try to get an extra amount of fresh air. Oxygen in the blood is a splendid tonic. It helps sweep impurities out of the system. A walk during the day, if only a brief one, and deep draughts of fresh air while outdoors will all help to set one up again physically. If the Christmas rush and work and excitement have left one feeling worn out and with little appetite and symptoms of biliousness.

DR. W. M. E. BARKER MAKES A REMARKABLE STATEMENT AFTER TRAVELING FROM THE ATLANTIC TO THE PACIFIC.

As he secured some of the most notable endorsements to his theory, he does not hesitate in saying that he will positively guarantee bloodline to cure stone in the bladder or any kidney or bladder trouble, no matter how long you have been suffering. Ninety-seven per cent of the entire population of the United States are afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble. In the last seven years bloodline has cured 96 per cent of the cases that have been treated with it. Hundreds of cases of hemorrhage of the bladder have been cured after treatment in some of the leading hospitals have failed to even relieve the patient. We are therefore confident that our theory of treating these cases with bloodline is the only possible manner in which such a large percentage of cases can be cured that we do not hesitate to guarantee the efficiency of bloodline.

Mr. Hanson, the business manager of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co., of Biddeford, Maine, had a stone in his bladder removed with six and one half bottles of bloodline, after being told by all of the leading physicians in his vicinity that the only way it could possibly be removed was by an operation. We stand ready to furnish positive proof of the above statement to any one doubting the truth of the same.

More than five million bottles of bloodline were sold in America last year. Can there be any greater evidence of merit than this unparalleled sale of a scientific product. No other product has ever met with such astounding sale in so short a period, and from a conservative estimate the sales this year will reach ten million bottles. 2880 bottles were sold in a single day in Cleveland, Ohio; 2160 bottles were sold in Rochester, N. Y. at the first day's introductory sale, and 1400 bottles in Paterson, N. J. in one day. No scientific treatment has ever attained such success in America. We are now supplying druggists with bloodline, for the convenience of those wishing to convince themselves of its merits. If you druggist does not have it, The Bloodline Laboratories, Boston, Mass., will supply you with a six bottle treatment (six bottles) for $2.50; 50c a bottle, trial sample and booklet 10c.
